

Ψευδο-Μαυρίκιος ὁ Τακτικός

Pseudo-Maurice and the Strategicon

eul_aid: vvi

Period: Ὀψιμαρχαία Late Antique
Dialect: Κοινή τεχνική Technical Koine
Domain: Ἐπιστήμη Science
Format: Πραγματεία Treatise

The author of the Strategikon is anonymous. Although traditionally ascribed to the Byzantine Emperor Maurice, modern scholarship rejects this attribution. The writer was almost certainly a high-ranking military officer or official with direct experience in the late 6th-century Roman army, and the text reflects contemporary adaptations to warfare against the Avars and Persians.

The sole work is the Strategikon, a comprehensive military manual. It is a paramount source for late antique and early Byzantine military theory. The text systematically details the era's army organization, cavalry tactics, siegecraft, and campaign conduct against foes like the Avars, Slavs, and Persians. Moving beyond classical Roman tradition, it reflects a practical military revolution and became a foundational text for subsequent Byzantine warfare.

Works (1)

- Στρατηγικόν · Strategicon · 691 passages